THE OATH OF HIPPOCRATES

I swear by Apollo the physician and AEsculapius and Health and Hygeia and all the gods and goddesses, that according to my ability and judgment I will keep this Oath and stipulation.

I will follow that system of treatment which, according to my ability and judgment, I consider for the benefit of my patient, and abstain from whatever is deleterious and mischievous. Into whatever house I enter I will go into it for the benefit of the sick, and will abstain from every voluntary act of mischief and corruption. Whatever in connection with my professional practice or not in connection with it, I see or hear in the lives of men which ought not be spoken abroad, I will not divulge, as reckoning that all such should be kept secret. While I continue to keep this oath inviolate, may it be granted to me to enjoy life and the practice of the art, respected by all men in all times, but should I trespass and violate this oath may the reverse be my lot.

Scholar
Researcher
Teacher
Physician

The graduating class dedicates Pylon 1976 to you as you retire after sixteen years of service to the West Virginia University School of Medicine.

As the chairman of the Department of Medicine from the inception of the school, you have developed and guided a department that is respected by all for its expertise and professionalism. You created an environment of high academic standards which we needed to become knowledgeable and competent physicians; however, you have made an even greater contribution to our medical education as an example of what the patient-doctor relationship means. Each patient was treated with respect and consideration as a human being. None was made to feel rushed or unimportant. Each was made to feel at ease by your gentle competent touch, quiet sense of humor and a sincere interest in his well being.

Your leadership will be missed.

Your influence will remain.

Alma Mater

Our Med school days are at an end,
Four years of pain and glory.
All ills we're now supposed to mend,
But first please hear our story.

You made us study willingly,
Through much intimidation.
You tempered our ability,
With considerable frustration.

You taught us some humility,
By gross humiliation.
Yet through Herb Lloyd's agility,
We gained an education.

We learned of hand and brain and eye,
Of orifice and sinus.
And if perchance we don't know why,
Then blame it on a virus.

The purpose of this four year course -
('Twas quite enough to choke a horse)
To gain a glimpse, an overview,
Of problems in the human zoo.

From heart attack to Chinese worm
From twisted limb to misshaped sperm.
The topics great and subjects small,
We took the time to learn them all.

We studied Micro, studied Path
We even learned a little Math.
Alas I fear it is all for naught,
These ancient secrets we've been taught.

For in the world of aches and pains,
Of bruises, bumps and ankle sprains.
It is not enough to be M.D.
My friends, we need a law degree.

The Team

AOA

The Alpha Omega Alpha Medical Honor Society is an organization of the undergraduate, graduate and faculty members of the West Virginia University School of Medicine. The name of the organization is made up of three Greek letters which are the essential words in the motto "to be worthy to serve the suffering." Organized first in 1902 at the College of Physicians and Surgeons in Chicago, the society exists for the purpose of education. It recognizes by its membership those who have distinguished themselves in the pursuit of their medical education or who have attained leadership in the medical profession. Members from the class of 1976 are the following.

Nick Anas	Gary Marano
Marcia Bohn	Roxann Powers
Diane Camp	Mary Shemo
Nick Cassis	Margret Simpson
Roger Frome	Thomas Stealey
Dennis Layton	William Strauch
Barry Louden

NOON HOUR MEDICAL FILMS

It didn't teach me anything new.

Students were provided the opportunity to view films every week. Topics covered were those felt to be of value from the standpoint of diagnostic information, advances in medical research and public health.

Advertisements

Dear Friends:

The students of the WVU School of Medicine wish to express their gratitude to the advertisers who assisted in making this 1976 yearbook possible. The advertisements are included with the candid photographs in the following pages. It is our hope that this book can serve both as a source of fond memories and as a reference for those concerned with medical education in West Virginia.

The full-time medical students who produced this book were motivated to express the human side of their mutually respected classmates and faculty. We extend thanks to a great group of people.

The Staff.

Caduceanns

Caduceanns, the women's auxiliary to AMSA, is an organization of wives of medical students who get together for service projects and social activities. Among the various service projects have been: raising money for the Neonatal Unit, giving items to Christian Health, making tray favors for the Pediatrics ward and layette items for the newborns at WVU Hospital. They were also responsible for compiling the student directory.

In the social line, Caduceanns offers interest groups in plants, needle crafts, slimnastics, arts and crafts, as well as bridge. They also sponsored the annual children's Christmas party.

WEST VIRGINIA UNIVERSITY FOUNDATION, INC.

Congratulates the Class of 1976

The West Virginia University Foundation, Inc. was established in 1954 to secure private monies for West Virginia University. As a Land Grant Institution, West Virginia University receives its basic operating budget from the State of West Virginia. However, for a State School to go beyond the ranks of mediocrity, private monies are desperately needed. We are very proud of the many University alumni and friends whose financial contributions have provided the margin of excellence between an adequate education and a broad and challenging total learning experience.

Last year over $228,000 was funneled through the Foundation's School of Medicine Funds for student and faculty use. This money was utilized for scholarships ($32,000); research ($59,000); specific projects and programs ($96,000); as well as $41,000 for unrestricted uses.

The Foundation welcomes the Class of 1976 to the alumni ranks. In the years ahead, please remember the generous financial support your class has received from preceding classes. West Virginia University has invested in your future; we hope that you will invest in hers.

All gifts are tax deductible and should be mailed to the West Virginia University Foundation, Inc., P.O. Box 894,

Morgantown, West Virginia 26505.
